and located at the heart of Europe, the Emadin Group accelerates your organisation into international markets.*

About Us

Since 2005, the European Management Development Institute (now part of the Emadin Group) continues to provide various courses designed to help managers and directors (both executive and non-executive directors) from companies of all sizes, to develop their skills across the entire strategic process from investor sourcing through to managing growth and implementing a successful exit strategy.

With corporate governance becoming an increasingly key global issue, it's essential that current and aspiring directors and managers receive appropriate coaching. Our course topics fully cover the duties and responsibilities of directors, with further development in other key areas.

Certificate and Diploma of Corporate Direction

Emadin's course programme is structured into several multi-day modules covering the key topic areas of finance, strategy, people and organisations.

- All workshops are highly interactive and typically include approximately 10-15 people.
- Exercises and case studies are used to help illustrate the key points.
- All faculty have extensive international experience, with all courses accounting for varying laws and practices in different jurisdictions.

All attendees receive a certificate of completion at the end of a module. By completing multiple modules, they may also complete the requirements for an award of either a Certificate of Corporate Direction, or a Diploma of Corporate Direction.

Course Structure

/ Note: content structure allows single-day registration on a specialised area if desired.
